America 2000 reaches Hancock

Main Street was decked in the red, white and blue of American flags; the St. Stanislaus band stood tall and played its best; community members appeared in their finest attire as the crowd gathered in front of Hancock County's courthouse to hear Governor Kirk Fordice declare the local education system the fifth in the state to reach America 2000 standards.

It was a proud day for Hancock and its educators.

A reception for the Governor, who was accompanied by his wife, was hosted at the Bay High School gymnasium.

Wetlands hearings set for Diamondhead, Bayou Caddy

The Mississippi Bureau of Marine Resources and Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks will hold public hearings concerning wetlands at two proposed casino sites.

On Jan. 28 a hearing is set for the Hancock County Community Center at 7 p.m. to receive comments on a proposed wetlands permit for the construction of a dockside casino, marina and access road near Diamondhead.

The Center is located on Longfellow Road in Bay St. Louis.

The application for the permit was filed by Purcell Co. The proposed site for the casino is on the north side of the Bay of St. Louis near the Hancock-Harrison county line.

BAYOU CADDY CASINO

BMR will conduct a Feb. 1 public hearing to receive comments on a proposed wetlands permit to create a parking area for a Bayou Caddy casino in Hancock County.

The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. in the Hancock County Courthouse on Main Street.

Bayou Caddy Inc. has applied for a permit to fill in two acres of wetlands for the parking area. The corporation was issued a wetlands permit late last year for the construction of the casino itself.

BSL plans March 1 start on recycling

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Residents of Bay St. Louis will soon follow Diamondhead's lead in the reduction of solid waste through recycling.

The Bay St. Louis City Council unanimously approved a six-month contract Tuesday with the city, Gulf Coast Recycling and Waste Management of Mississippi Inc.

Mayor Eddie Favre reported the voluntary program will be offered to every house, small business and apartment within city limits.

Penny Penrose of Gulf Coast Recycling stated the tri-party effort is believed to be the second endeavor of this type attempted nationally and the first municipal contract for the local service.

Waste Management Inc. offers curbside recycling to Diamondhead residents.

Penrose explained Gulf Coast Recycling will provide a community education program through neighborhood meetings and the development of a city-wide "Block Leader Program," an "each-one/teach-one" approach.

They will offer door-side pick-ups for the elderly and disabled.

Each household will receive a 14-gallon "Bay St. Louis Recycles" bin for collection of aluminum, tin and bi-metal food and beverage cans, newspaper, plastic soft drink bottles, plastic milk and water jugs, and clear, green and brown glass bottles and jars.

Pick-ups will be once a week per household.

The cost to the city is $5,858 per month.

Favre said he would like the city to purchase the bins to encourage participation in the program.

Penrose reported Wednesday she was meeting with city offi-

Hancock residents experience economic disaster following discovery of true house location

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Five months ago, Brad Borders was answering the call of opportunity when he was informed that the Stennis Space Center buffer zone runs through the center of his home.

Today, he and his wife and three children remain in their Texas Flat Road home waiting to see who shall remove them first, the federal government or bill collectors.

But it was only yesterday when his future as a commercial building washer had taken a giant step forward and the American dream appeared to rest in the palm of his hand.

The prospect of several contracts, including one with a national discount chain of stores, prompted the Borders to apply at their local bank in September for a loan with which to upgrade his equipment, complete renovations to their home of 9 years and consolidate bills.

Jerry Fisher and the Music Company seeks major label for new recording

BY LIZ HAAS

Jerry Fisher and the Music Company, the popular house band at Dock of the Bay, is enjoying success with the release of its first recording, "In An' Outta Da Blues."

Tape recording and compact disc sales have topped 2,500 since the November release.

Members of the band include Fisher as vocalist, keyboard player Derrell Brown, guitarist Johnny Hozey, bass player Eric Watkins and drummer Harrell Bosarge.

The recording was released locally as a pilot, while Fisher waits for a deal from a major label. The compact discs and cassettes were released locally in sound shops from New Orleans to Mobile and north to Jackson.

The recording, produced by Gene Foster, was done at Studio in the Country in Bogalusa, La. It features songs like "After the Mardi Gras," and "It Ain't Over Yet."

Fisher, who formed the group 13 years ago, was a vocalist with Blood, Sweat and Tears from 1971-1975. This is his first recording since he left the group.

"I haven't really been inspired to do a recording since I was with Blood, Sweat and Tears," he said. "I guess I've been too happy and comfortable just sittin' on the Dock of the best players I could," he said.

The band, with few changes in members, has been playing together for the past 15 years.

You can catch the rhythm and blues band at the Dock any Friday and Saturday night. Fisher and his wife, Melva, to pay for part of the cost on a new pressure machine, financing the difference; they financed a new flat-bed diesel truck; and purchased materials for the renovations on the house.

They then applied for the loan, assuming the equity on the property would assure its approval.

While waiting for the completion of paper work and a property survey, the bank readily advanced them a few thousand dollars. The future continued to look rather rosy.

Bordes stated he was stunned when the survey of the Texas Flat Road property revealed the Stennis Space Center buffer zone boundary line runs directly through the existing house rendering it unmarketable.

PROPERTY HISTORY

Bordes spent the next few weeks investigating real estate records and questioning various officials.

He related, in 1964 Axel and Nelle Hansen, sold a 300-by-50-foot easement (2 lots) along the west boundary of her property to the federal government for the creation of Stennis Space Center's 124,000-acre acoustic restriction easement.

As stated in a letter to Bordes by Mrs. Hansen, she was told by government officials prior to the sale of the easement that the buffer zone would run along the west wall of her house.

Upon selling her home to Leon Perrett of New Orleans in 1972 she claims to have told Perrett of the easement line location.

Bordes said Perrett added a 16-foot addition onto the west side of the structure following his purchase and later sold the property to Judith Nelson through owner financing.

Bordes also has in possession a copy of a January 1983 letter to Patt Cucullu of Dantagan Realty Inc. by Nelson in which she states, "In fact, the back half of the property is in the buffer zone."

The Bordes claim their realtor, Margaret Hayden of Dantagan, did not inform them of the buffer zone location, nor advise them to obtain a survey prior to purchasing the site opened the beachfront night spot in 1975.

The house band performs for an audience of all ages and regulars include a list of old and young.

"Our group appeals to a wide audience and everybody has a good time here," said Fisher.

Fisher said most of his audience is a mixture of locals and people from Louisiana, to Ocean Springs and as far up as Hattiesburg and Jackson.

Fisher said the Dock has seen a lot of new faces since gaming came into the area.

"The gaming has improved our business both in the night entertainment and in the restaurant.

When discussing the possibility of a casino near the downtown Bay St. Louis area, Fisher said he has always believed that a development of that kind in the downtown area would be the greatest and best location if it were done right because of the shops and owners there.

Fisher said that as an artist, he strives to be understood and get his message across:

"If you can do this, then that's

Causes of 3 structure fires remain unknown

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

County fire marshal Richard Pate reported, investigations on three separate structure fires remain ongoing.

"I expect to have something by the end of the week," he stated.

Pate said, "The home of Darrell Choina, 1020 Highway 603, was totally destroyed by fire about 8 p.m. Sunday.

"Both Bayside and Hancock Volunteer Fire Departments assisted in extinguishing the blaze."

He added, "At 12 a.m. Tuesday the home of Anthony Bryan, 435 DeMontluzin Street, Bay St. Louis, received heavy smoke and heat damage along with the destruction of two rooms.

The Bay St. Louis Fire Department responded, and within minutes contained the fire."

The third fire, according to Pate, took place at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday on the old Kiln-Picayune Highway.

Tax collector's office open Sat.

The Hancock County Tax Collector's office will be open Saturdays from 8 a.m. until noon during the month of January for those wishing to pay taxes.

from Nelson.

They stated that they were told by Hayden prior to purchasing the house that the easement was located approximately 5 feet from property line, which is about 23 feet from the existing west wall.

When contacted, Hayden said she was advised by her attorney not to comment on the matter.

Meanwhile, the survey obtained during the loan application process revealed the actual location of the buffer zone boundary as 6 feet within the west wall of the original structure, not along the west wall as Hansen believed, and 22 feet within the interior of the present building.

NASA director Roy Estess responding to Congressman Gene Taylor's inquiry on behalf of Bordes, reports "We are unaware of any error that NASA has made; clearly, however, someone has made an error placing or constructing this house where such structures are prohibited."

On December 1 the Bordes were informally told they must relocate by the U.S. Army Corp of Engineers. As of this month, the Bordes were told the house must be moved off of the easement by March 4.

DIFFICULTIES

Today the Bordes are struggling to meet their bills as they remain in their Texas Flat residency.

When the bank informed them of the status of their property Bordes began selling off those pieces of equipment just purchased.

The truck note was the first to go, followed by the bucket and cleaning equipment.

"If I had four to six months prior to all the notes coming due," he explained, "I may have been able to pursue the contract possibility I was offered."

"As it was, I had bills that were immediately due, materials purchased and not enough money to cover all our expenses. I knew I was over extended without the loan approval."

"I began selling off the equipment I had just purchased, all at a loss."

Bordes and his wife have retained an attorney to represent their interest.

They said they are not looking to point any fingers, but they do want out of the situation.

The initial investment of the house purchase is now estimated doubled considering the improvements made to the house during Bordes' ownership.

"Besides the money, you would not believe the stress we have experienced over this," he commented. "We just wish to go on with our lives."

"QUOTEABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

It is good to see a fresh coat of paint going on our Hancock County Courthouse in Bay St. Louis.

The building was beginning to look bad with paint peeling all over, and I am glad the board of supervisors has undertaken the action to have the painting done.

By the way, I had to agree with the powers to be on the first color selection, as it looked terrible.

The light grey looks much better.

The workers from Twin L. Construction, Inc., of Pass Christian have been very busy scraping and chipping away the old paint on the building. In between work they have been dodging rain drops and fog.

The project is under the direction of Bay St. Louis architect Michael Reeves.

It was good to see Governor Kirk Fordice visiting Hancock County Tuesday to officially designate the county as an America 2000 Community.

This has been a project of the Chamber of Commerce's Education Committee, and it is good to know there are only four such communities in the state thus far designated.

If our county is going to go forward, we have to have educational excellence in our schools.

The national educational goals which our county has adopted are a step in the right direction.

The time is now to join the Krewe of Hancock which follows the Krewe of Nereids on Sunday, Feb. 14.

This truck parade, ever so popular, consists of floats, and marching groups, and all must be registered.

For further information, call the Krewe of Nereids at 467-7635.

So, you have always wanted to be an actor, but never really took the opportunity to try.

Maybe your troubles are over, as there will be auditions for Damn Yankees Sunday, Jan. 24, at the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre playhouse.

Tryouts will be from 3 to 6 p.m. at the playhouse, which is located at 301 Boardman Avenue, (Cedar Point) Bay St. Louis.

There is a need for 20 men and 12 women of various ages. Those auditioning should be prepared to sing (I've been eliminated) a musical selection of their choice.

Best of luck to everyone!

It is just hard to realize that come the end of May it will be 40 years since I graduated from high school.

On Saturday night, members of my SSC class, along with others, will be honored at the annual Alumni Celebration at the Jefferson-Orleans in Metairie.

It will be good to see some of my classmates. Some I saw at our 25th, while there will be others whom I haven't seen since 1953.

Several of my classmates who are still around the area are Gerald Gex and David Treutel Sr. of the Bay and Frank Wittmann from the Pass.

I am just wondering how many of the 50 will be there, as several from our class were foreign students.

One thing is for sure, time continues to move on.

Governor at Stennis

Gov. Kirk Fordice spent Tuesday afternoon at NASA's John C. Stennis Space Center in Hancock County. Those in photo are from left, Bill Costas, Rocketdyne Resident Manager at SSC; Gov. Fordice; and Roy Estess, Stennis director. The governor was briefed on the important missions of NASA, the U.S. Navy, the other federal agencies and the Center of Higher Learning's university programs at Stennis. (NASA photo).

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Governor wants to be kinder and gentler'

Gov. Kirk Fordice evidently made a New Year's resolution that he would not shoot from the lip in 1993. No more mis-speaks like the crack about calling out the National Guard or fleeing the Yankees, he vowed to the Legislature in his State of the State address the other day.

Not too sure, however, was about taking back his remark about this being a "Christian nation" not Judeo-Christian, which had caused a national stir last year.

No doubt about it, Fordice was breaking the wrapping off the "new Kirk Fordice" in his appearance before the legislators. Talking about unity this time, rather than confrontation as he did last year.

Afterwards, he sat around in soft chairs with reporters in his office (no tape recorders or cameras allowed) and actually smiled as he said he was going to be a "kinder and gentler" governor. Seems that we heard another Republican fellow named Bush say the same thing a few years back.

Wasn't that just before we heard about Willie Horton?

Anyhow, the Kirk Fordice who made his 1993 debut last week obviously had gone to school on his gaffes of 1992 and was making a studied effort to button his lip, insofar as that is possible.

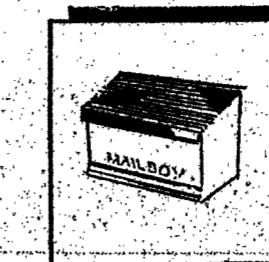

For instance, in his sitdown session with the Capitol Press, Fordice was going along rather calmly, not raising his voice or his blood pressure until the name of about-to-be-President Bill Clinton was introduced into the discussion.

That sent Fordice into sudden orbit. "Clinton's election was a fluke," he said heatedly, then rattled off several of his reasons why, including the Perot factor and Clinton masquerading as a moderate.

"America is tired of packaged politicians," Fordice fired off as his face grew more flushed. "I certainly don't intend to create an image of what you ought to be to be a proper politician—powdered and blow-dried."

Somewhat Fordice calling Clinton a "fluke" made the expression "it takes one to know one" suddenly come to mind. And it left in doubt how successful Fordice is going to be in his new buttoned-lip mode.

But there are a number of worthwhile things to be found in the Fordice State of the State message, of which he was obviously very pleased. It showed that Fordice has learned some-

Burglar seized seconds to steal shopper's wallet

Dear Editor,

It can happen here, so ladies beware.

On Saturday, Jan. 16, I was shopping at a local supermarket.

Unfortunately my purse was in the top of the shopping cart.

I turned for a few seconds to pick out some staples, and in that few seconds, my wallet was lifted from my purse.

Within the time I left the store to return home to report my loss, $349 in charges had been made on my credit cards.

I hope this will help others to be more careful when shopping.

Sincerely,
Cathleen Taconi

More community input is needed for good schools

Dear Editor,

Like the folks at Hancock High and like Mr. John Kolodziej, I, too, am a educator and would like to express an opinion concerning mediocrity in our schools.

It's a shame, but it is there. It seems that school boards and administrators alike have tried to accommodate students (and parents) by watering down certain policies.

An example of this is the lowering of academic expectations—not a good move in today's demanding world.

That idea of allowing students to be exempt for maintaining a C average and missing a minimal number of days is just another futile attempt to boost the ADA, which means better pupil attendance. The ADA is a continual problem.

Governor addresses students on the America 2000 program

By LIZ HAAS

Governor Kirk Fordice addressed students at Hancock High School Tuesday morning as part of his program to designate Hancock County as an America 2000 community.

"We're here today to celebrate Hancock 2000, the incorporation of the school system in Hancock County and all the schools in this area into a joint, cooperative, committed effort to improve education in this area," said Fordice.

"I'm glad that your community has decided to become an America 2000 community through Hancock 2000 and join thousands of other communities across America who have chosen to do so in full recognition that it's up to every local community to provide the emphasis for improving the school systems," Fordice said.

"I want you all to take a lifetime interest in education," he said. "We must continue learning all of our lives, it's a never-ending procedure."

Fordice told the students that as long as they could obtain the necessary finances, to never let up on their efforts to get an involved at a very young age and know what's going on in government and politics because it has such a very tremendous effect on your lives, in every aspect of your lives, so you just can't afford to ignore it," he said.

Fordice told the students that it is a big responsibility for them to try to get a handle on government and keep up with it.

Fordice recognized the world events that have occurred during line Watts, Bay Senior High School senior.

"The Governor gave a really pleasant speech," she said, "it was a good speech and he gave us respect and admiration."

"He made some really good points," said Lacey McGuire, an eighth grade student at Hancock High School.

Sandra Blakley, a tenth grade student at Hancock High School said, "His speech was very successful."

"I was interested in all of what he was saying, especially the part about President Bush's work in office," said Blakley.

Vo-tech school heat/air system to be replaced

By LIZ HAAS

The Hancock County School Board awarded the contract to replace air conditioning/heating systems in the Vo-Tech building to D.N.P., Inc., in their Tuesday meeting.

D.N.P., Inc. of Biloxi had the lowest bid for $57,099.

The job is to be completed by March 1, with all final details finished by March 15.

The board approved the recommendation of Rhea Scalfi, school food supervisor, to award food purchasing contracts to Merchant's Company.

The bids were for $42,360.74 and $84,157.98, respectively.

The board accepted the low quote from Associated Food Equipment for $558 for a Robot Coupe motor for the school food service from February 13 to May 31.

The board also approved:

—purchase of two IBM typewriters for the Vo-Tech School through state contract from Office Supply Company for $922 to be paid from Vocational Federal Funds;

—purchase of SRA Reading Lab supplies in the amount of $1,340 for Hancock Elementary School from Educational Enhancement Funds as a single source item;

—purchase of maps, globes and instructional material for all classrooms at Gulfview Elementary from The George F. Cram Company for $8,466.79 as a single source item from the Educational Enhancement funds;

—the 1992-1993 Impact Aid Application, which is federal funds for people who work for the federal government.

The board adjourned until February 1, at 5 p.m.

T&G meeting set today

The next monthly meeting of the Hancock County Tourism & Gaming Association (T&G) will be at 8 a.m. today, Jan. 21 at the Waveland Resort Inn.

The meeting will be primarily a business meeting, but will include a presentation by Harold "Baz" Olson, executive director of the Hancock County Port & Harbor Commission.

Olson will present an update on the Stennis International Airport and its ability to accommodate shuttle flights in support of the new gaming industry.

Business matters to be discussed are the selection of a nominating committee for T&G officers and directors for 1993-94; the Jan. 31 Super Bowl party; the 1993 Krewe of Camelot parade activities; and proposed changes to the organization's by-laws.

Members and guests are encouraged to attend.

Workshop focus is financial skills

Statistics indicate that 50% of all marriages end in divorce, and that 50% of all women over 65 are widows.

According to these statistics, most women will be forced at some point in their lives to manage finances alone and build their own financial security.

The Women's Financial Information Program (WFIP) offers women the opportunity to learn basic financial skills. The series of workshops teaches how to get organized; create a personal cash flow system; handle credit issues; make insurance and investment decisions and plan for retirement needs.

Workshops will be held at the Center for Women's Health in Long Beach on Feb. 8, 15, 22 and March 1, 8, 15 and 22. Each session will be conducted from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Cost is $20 for each participant. The final date for registration is Feb. 1. Space is limited; please call early to reserve a place.

To register or for more information, interested persons should call 864-4273.

WFIP is sponsored by the American Association of Retired Persons, Center for Women's Health of Memorial Hospital, Cooperative Extension Service/Mississippi State University, and the Southern Mississippi Planning and Development District Area Agency on Aging.

The raindrops keep falling

Bobby Boudin, Hancock County Civil Defense Director, reported over four inches of rainfall by noon yesterday.

"There were a lot of complaints about minor street flooding, but it should clear up soon if we don't get any more hard rains or strong northeast winds," he said.

Boudin reported that there were no major problems due to the heavy rains.

Pass carnival team to host $10,000 drawing

The Harrison/Gregory team of the St. Paul Carnival Association is announcing a $10,000 drawing on Saturday, February 12.

Tickets may be purchased for $100 from any team member or by calling 452-4710, 452-7201 or 865-9537.

The team is also hosting an Indian Night Saturday, January 23, and a seafood/family night Friday, January 29. The drawings will be held in the St. Paul School gymnasium, First Christian Church, Waveland.

Several people from Bay St. Louis have posted winnings at Casino Magic.

Some of the winners include Polly Goyle, $450; Josephine Smith, $1,500; Jean Alsobrook, $2,500; Barbara Quartana, $3,000; and Parthena Corneille, $1,600.

Commerce, 609 N. Vienna, P.O. Box 150, Ruston, LA 71273-0150.

IN AND AROUND DIAMONDHEAD

By Margaret Williamson

CASINO COMMENTS

All residents in and around Diamondhead are encouraged to attend the public (open) meeting of the Bureau of Marine Resources to be held on Thursday, Jan. 28, 7 p.m. at the Hancock Civic Center on Longfellow Drive off Hwy. 603.

Purcell Co. has filed an application with the Bureau for permission to dredge a portion of the land they own near the Harrison County line south of the interstate and east of the Diamondhead Yacht Club for construction of a gambling casino.

Opinions, objections and all ideas of the people in this operation are vitally needed.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

Folks who love all art forms are invited to join the Diamondhead Art Guild. Skip Alfonso announced at a meeting on Jan. 18 at the community center, exciting things are in store for all members in '93, such as "A Jackson Square Day" on the lovely grounds across from the country club possibly sometime in April.

There will be portrait artists, mimes, entertainment, etc. A lot of the things associated with Jackson Square in New Orleans.

Members attending the Monday night meeting were introduced to Paige Sullivan, a new artist in our midst, who has enlightened S. Louisiana with her watercolor paintings and mixed media works. She gave a wonderful demonstration on making all kinds of jewelry. Beginning in March, Sullivan will offer two six-week night classes in beginning watercolors. It starts on Tuesday, March 2, 6:30-8:30 p.m. at the Diamondhead Day Care Center. Beginning drawing starts on Thursday, March 4 from 6:30-8:30 p.m. at the Day Care Center. The fee for each of the six-week classes is $75.

We know that there are lots and lots of talented folks in Diamondhead and the surrounding areas.

Come on out and let's pool all of our resources into the Art Guild to benefit everyone. For more information on membership and the classes, call 255-7199 or 255-3465.

DIAMONDHEAD CUISINE

Diamondhead residents, their friends and relatives from far and near may want to experience new dishes and specials at the country club and yacht club restaurants, as we have a new food and beverage director, Jake Bodiford. We welcome Jake to the POA staff. Bon appetit!

COMMUNITY ASSOCIATION

The membership dinner meeting and the election of officers and directors will be on Friday, Feb. 5 at 6:30 p.m. at the country club.

An interesting program has been planned. Deborah Thompson, an attorney with Blackwell & White in Gulfport, will speak on the Diamondhead covenants. Since this topic is of much importance, and many are expected to attend, you should make reservations now by calling 255-2525.

THE BLUES

The Diamondhead Performing Arts Society takes us "Up That Lazy River" for an evening of the Blues performed by Walter Lininger through the melodic sounds of his harmonica, harp and guitar.

His performance is on Sunday, Jan. 24 at 5 p.m. No tickets will be sold at the door, so call 255-6042 or send check for $12.50 adult ($9.50 child) and self-addressed envelope to Suite 701, 443 Yacht Club Drive, Diamondhead, MS 39525.

BURKHARDT HONORED

Henry B. Burkhardt, a resident of Diamondhead, with his wife Alice, both very active in community happenings, received a 25-year service award for his dedication in the security industry.

This was presented at Dictograph Security Systems' 90th anniversary at their convention in Cancun, Mexico recently.

Good job, Henry!

HURRY FOR THE PARADE

The Krewe of Diamondhead's

"Circus Theme" parade is on Saturday, Feb. 20 starting at 2 p.m. at the Community Center. An entry form is a must to be in the parade. Contact Chris Arnos, 63736 Diamondhead Dr. N., Diamondhead, MS 39525, phone 255-7297 for entry forms.

THEATER

Clem Acker, our very own Diamondhead thespian, has again excelled in another play, "Love Letters" at Center Stage in Gulfport.

He and his lovely co-star, Dot Eaton (reminds you of Kate Hepburn) will bring you a smile and lots of tears at the end of their performance of this nostalgic and sentimental play.

They will repeat the performance again on Friday, Jan. 22 at 8 p.m. and Sunday, Jan. 24 at 3 p.m. matinee.

THOUGHTS

The pathway to success is traveled by those who believe in themselves and the good life can bring.

Have a great week.

Rocks take two from Tigers

The St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaw eighth and ninth grade teams claimed wins over the Bay High Tigers Tuesday night at SSC.

The seventh grade Tigers posted a victory over the Rocks, 44-32.

Leading scorers for Bay High were Darryl Johnson, 12 points; Michael Johnson, 8; Cleveland Williams, 6; Wendell Raboteau, 4; Casey Weems, 4; and Jeffrey Ross, 4.

Tyree Haynes led SSC with 11 points, followed by Derek Bradley with 9. Honore Hazeur scored 4 points; Brant Ryan, 3; Jacques Favret, 3; and Brandon Riddle, 2.

In a very close and exciting contest, the SSC 8th grade rallied to defeat the Tigers, 49-48 after trailing most of the game.

Billy Powell hit 2 free throws with 8 seconds left in the game to seal the win for SSC.

Davis Eiermann led the comeback with 19 second-half points. He finished with a game high 32 points, followed by Cory Ray and Brian Barber with 5 points each.

Billy Powell scored 3 points, Joey Niolet, 2; and Derek Bradley, 2.

Scoring for the Tigers were Jermaine Collins, 17 points; Ray Ramsey, 16; John "Bo" Green, 10; Tyrone Lewis, 8; Ray Ramsey, 6; Terry Harris, 4; James Benton, 2; and Destin Lucky, 1.

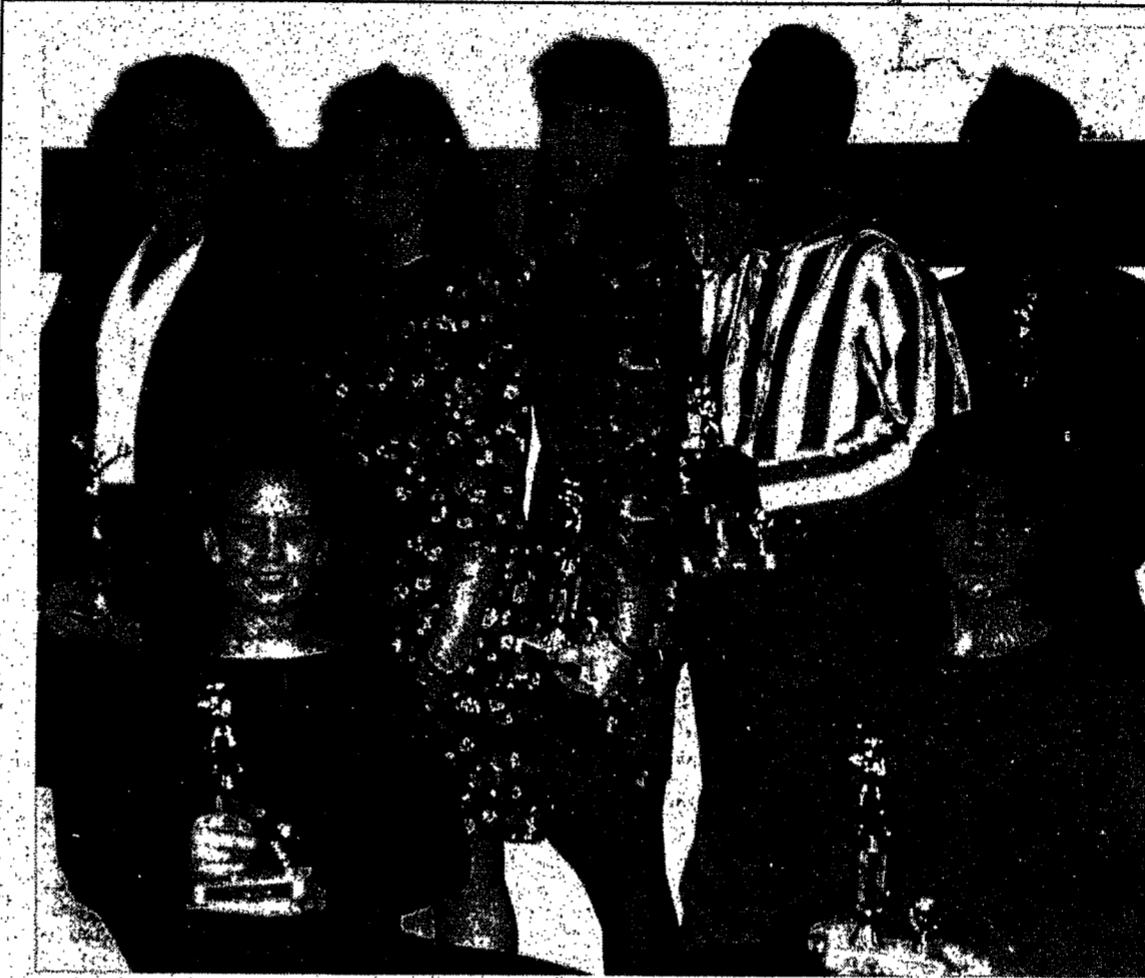

In another tense game, the SSC freshmen pulled away in the second half to defeat the Tigers, 43-37.

David Bell had an outstanding game, according to SSC coach Jeff Barbera, grabbing 10 rebounds and scoring a game high 16 points. He was followed by Wes Pugh with 9 points and Jason Kirscheneuter with 8.

Kelton Thompson and Chris McQueen played extremely well at the guard position," said Barbera, "Kelton was 4-4 from the free throw line in the fourth quarter."

Thompson scored 4 points, Correy Gex, 2; Marcel Singleton, 2; and Stephen Shockley, 2.

Scoring for the ninth grade Tigers were Lee Morris, 12 points; Ricky Soldinie, 10; Terran Tillman, 5; Steve Burger, 4; Luke Weems, 3; Shawn Pierinas, 2; and Ronald Thomas, 1.

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

Looking for a bright spot on rainy days? Think crabs... or shrimp they needed any help, like directions to the nearest mental hospital.

Those foreigners didn't need any help. They were really crabbing, and they had two five-gallon buckets full of crabs that they caught over a time period of about two hours.

Now it is true that the majority of the crabs they had were small, and would barely qualify for gumbo size, but there were enough medium to large size crabs to have a real nice boil.

My really big surprise came next. I was informed that boiling crabs was not the proper way to prepare crabs for human consumption.

Not being one to oppose new ideas, and certainly not being one to oppose new ways to eat, I inquired as to how they were going to fix the crabs that they caught so that they would be fit for human consumption.

I should have guessed—they were going to cook their crabs the only obvious way for people who live in that foreign land up north; they were going to steam them.

Steaming seems like a good way to cook clams. It might even be ok to steam lobster, although I personally think lobster would taste better cooked in a little crab boil. But it seems a shame to only cook crabs by steaming them. Maybe they dipped them in some Tabasco after they took all of the meat out.

Anyway, those folks claimed to use a wok-type of contraption, and they said that they placed the crabs in the contraption in layers. This was supposed to be the most effective method of steaming them.

All of this talk about crabs prompted me to ask about the size limits on crabs. There still seems to be great confusion about the size limits, so I went to the horse's mouth. You know, the green men with the flashing blue lights—BMR.

BMR headquarters gave me a book called "Guide To Saltwater Fishing Regulations." This book contains some good information as to the current regulations that are in effect as of this date.

Page 17, "Method of Taking," states: Traditional methods of taking crabs, for which there are no specific restrictions, are as follows: handline, drop net, dip net, hook and line, crab pots.

On page 18, paragraph 2, the rules state: All crabs (except for peeler crabs and soft-shell crabs) must be larger than five inches measured from the top of one lateral spine across the back of the shell to the tip of the opposite lateral spine.

I "think" all the regulations state that you can only keep crabs that are longer than five inches from point to point!!! If you are confused as to what to do it is always best to go to the "horse's mouth" for an answer.

The phone number for BMR is 601-385-5680.

This week's wonderful wise words: Always put brain in gear before putting mouth into motion.

I guess Cayenne pepper is outlawed in that foreign land, turtle.

March of Dimes plans essay contest

The seventh annual March of Dimes Essay Contest, sponsored by Blue Cross & Blue Shield of Mississippi is now in progress.

This essay contest is open to all 7th through 12th grade students in Mississippi. Entitled "Risky Business: Being A Teen Parent," this contest is designed to make students aware of the teen pregnancy problem in Mississippi and the responsibilities and problems of adolescent parenthood. Essays should be no more than 500 words and must be typed or handwritten in black ink. The student's name, address, telephone number, school, and grade must appear on the first page of the essay. Cover sheets are not accepted.

Judging will be based on content (insight into the problems of being a teen parent, medical risks to infants born to adolescents, and recognition of the social, economic and educational problems relating to teen pregnancy); grammar (correct spelling, grammar, sentence construction and neatness); and style (writing technique).

Six local winners will be selected from each of the two categories—7th through 9th grades and 10th through 12th grades. Each local winner will receive a $100 savings bond and the state winners (one from each category) will each receive a $500 savings bond donated by Blue Cross & Blue Shield of Mississippi.

Deadline for entries is Wednesday, Feb. 10 and should be sent to March of Dimes, 4800 McWillie Circle, Suite A-4, Jackson, MS 39206. For additional information, please call 1-800-842-5117.

Local winners will be announced after March 18 and state winners will be announced at an awards luncheon on April 6.

Sy named SSC Senior of Month

Bernard Sy has been named Senior of the Month for December at St. Stanislaus.

The award, voted on by the faculty members, recognizes seniors who display sincerity, enthusiasm, family spirit, involvement, observance and responsibility.

Sy is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Bertrand Sy of Bay St. Louis. This year he was selected as the both the Rotary Club of Hancock County Senior of the Month and the Exchange Club of Hancock County Student for October. He placed second in the Iberville Assembly Knight of Columbus patriotic essay contest.

He is a member of the National Honor Society, My Alpha Theta, the Key Club, the Spanish Honor Society and SADD. He has been active in the Student Council since ninth grade serving as class vice-president and president. He has achieved honor roll status throughout high school and was selected as Pepsi Student of the Month his sophomore and junior years.

He has been a member of the varsity baseball team since tenth grade. He has a black belt in karate and has been a piano student for 10 years.

Sy plans to enter a pre-medicine program for his undergraduate degree.

Wal-Mart offers $1,000 scholarship

Officials of the Wal-Mart store announced a $1,000 Wal-Mart Foundation community scholarship will be presented this spring to an area high school student.

The scholarship, payable over a one-year period and awarded to a college or university-bound student, will be based on the student's scholastic and academic achievements, extra-curricular and work activities, as well as financial need.

Store manager Jack Latil said, "We are very proud to offer this annual scholarship to a deserving area student on behalf of our store and the company. This is one of many efforts by Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. to support education and enhance the opportunities of our area youth as well as contribute to the quality of life in the communities we serve."

Latil went on to explain a team of judges, consisting of area business and community leaders, will evaluate the applications and conduct student interviews before making final selection.

Interested students may obtain applications from their school counselor or administrative office. Applications must be returned to their school by February 12.

Cucurullo named to dean's list

More than 1,800 Southeastern Louisiana University students were named to the dean's list for the 1992 Fall Semester.

To be named to the dean's list, honorees must be full-time undergraduate students and have at least a 3.2 grade point average.

Included is Jeannie L. Cucurullo of Bay St. Louis.

Please join our campaign for healthier babies.

Girl Scout cookie sale is underway

Special to the Echo
Hancock County! Be on the lookout for Girl Scouts selling cookies!

Carrying on a tradition for some 50 years, Girl Scouts will be taking orders in January and setting up cookie sale booths in late February and early March.

Seven different varieties of cookies will be on sale. The cost of each box is $2.50. Cookie orders are taken until January 23, and cookies are to be delivered between Feb. 19 to March 6.

The cookie sale helps nearly 500 Girl Scouts in the Hancock County area each year.

Last year troops in Hancock County earned over $5,200 for trips, community projects, camping equipment and troop supplies, and other activities planned by the girls. Cookie sale proceeds also promote the ongoing program of Girl Scouting in the Gulf Pines Council, incorporating 15 counties in south Mississippi and serving over 11,000 girls and adults annually.

In addition, the cookie sale program encourages the development of planning and budgeting skills, and helps girls develop responsible attitudes and gain self-esteem.

If you're not contacted by a Girl Scout, you may order cookies by calling the Hancock County Girl Scout cookie manager at 533-7956.

Ready to sell cookies

Common sense safety tips offered for children, parents

Ten-year-old Mary and her younger brother are home alone watching television after school. Someone knocks at the front door. What should she do? Johnny, a fifth grade student, is home alone, preparing to leave for school when the telephone rings. The caller asks to speak to his mom. How should he respond?

These are examples of two common situations faced by an increasing number of latchkey children left at home for extended periods of time by single parents or dual-wage earners.

The term "latchkey" refers to children between five and 13 years old who each day spend two to three hours alone at home or in the care of another under-age child. Many latchkey children carry their house keys on a string or chain around their necks.

Latchkey children prepare themselves for school on mornings when their parents have left for work, or they come home after school to an empty house and wait for their parents to arrive from work.

Although an exact number is not available, educators and school counselors in southeast Mississippi conservatively estimate that as many as 24 to 40 percent of a school district's enrollment may be latchkey children.

In response to the growing number of latchkey children, Mississippi Power Company began sponsoring "Take Charge!" in 1989. This program is designed to raise children's awareness level and helps teach them how to safely handle potentially dangerous situations.

tions when parents are away. The "Take Charge!" program is centered around a 21-minute videotape and informational booklet supplied to the school districts. These materials provide practical advice on the basics of preparing children to take care of themselves.

Followed by discussion between students and teachers or guidance counselors.

Following the in-school presentation, each youngster is given a booklet to take home ram to school districts throughout southeast Mississippi.

"Take Charge!" was introduced in the Pass Christian School District in the 1990-91 school year. Approximately 3,000 students will have seen the program by the end of the current school year.

"We have used the program at all grade levels—elementary, middle school, and high school. We found a large number of middle school and high school students were responsible for looking after younger brothers and sisters. They needed to know how to handle potentially dangerous situations," said Dr. Lorice Broome, assistant superintendent of the Pass Christian School District.

"Every school district we have contacted about the program has been anxious to implement it," said Donald Dana Jr., coordinator of external programs.

"They usually plan to focus on one elementary grade, but after seeing how effective the material is, they decide to expand it into other grades."

Pass schools elect trustee

A trustee election will be held in the Pass Christian Public School District in the outside territory which is outside the corporate or city limits of Pass Christian on Saturday, March 6.

One trustee will be elected to a full five-year term. DeLisle Elementary School will be the voting place. Polls will be open 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. for the first ballot.

The "Take Charge!" program was initially introduced by the company in the Laurel School District during the 1989-90 school year. Mississippi Power has since expanded the program.

The program can be presented in one 50-minute class period at any time during the school year. The videotape is shown in the classroom, fol-

and discuss with parents.

Mississippi agriculture sets record value

By Eva Ann Dennis

MSU Information Services

Record yields, higher prices and larger production spelled a remarkable year for Mississippi's No. 1 industry, agricultural production. The estimated 1992 on-farm production value of Mississippi agriculture was $3.78 billion, up $243 million from 1991. This record value was good news for the state's overall economy, and good news for Mississippi farmers whose net farm income was up $110 million to $845 million.

"Taking into consideration an economic multiplier of 3.9, Mississippi agriculture generated about $14.7 billion of economic activity in the state in 1992," said Dr. R. Rodney Foil, vice president for the Division of Agriculture, Forestry and Veterinary Medicine at Mississippi State University.

About one-fourth of Mississippi's work force—275,000 people—are employed in some phase of Mississippi agriculture. About 75,000 of those are employed on the farm.

Record yields for soybeans, corn, grain sorghum and hay helped boost the 1992 value, as did higher prices for forestry products, milk, broilers and wheat.

Cotton, the state's highest valued agricultural commodity, reached a value of $832 million, up $65 million from 1991. Yields were down from last year's record crop, but producers planted more acreage in 1992.

Forestry, the No. 2 agricultural commodity, was valued at $1.40 million for 1992, up $40 million from 1991. Larger production and higher prices helped to boost the value.

The No. 3 agricultural commodity, poultry and eggs, increased $22 million in value to $111 million. Broilers accounted for $620 million of that value and eggs $87 million.

"With a record total value of ag production and a record net farm income level, most Mississippi farm families had a fairly good year," said Dr. Bob Williams, extension leader for agricultural economics at MSU.

However, because of inflation and the fact that a few farm enterprises did have some setbacks, such as beef cattle, hogs and some of the horticultural crops, a number of farm families still have financial problems," Williams said.

Factors that cut into profits included lower "farm gate" prices for most farm products, moderately higher production costs, particularly for cotton producers, and some crop losses due to Hurricane Andrew.

"USDA is currently projecting about a 10 percent decline in net farm income in 1993," Williams said. "The basis for that projection is the expectation that production costs will be higher and because of some fairly large grain crops this year."

Williams, expressing optimism for Mississippi growers, said he believes Mississippi growers can match or come very close to the 1992 record value again in 1993.

"If we can do that, then it probably will be another fairly good year for Mississippi farm families," Williams said. "But, some of the records set in 1992 will be hard to match in 1993 such as the record yields for soybeans and corn."

Only two of the state's top 10 agricultural commodities fell in value in 1992. Meat animals, a $289 million industry, fell $29 million in value due to lower cattle and hog prices.

Horticultural crops suffered weather-related losses, especially to the peach and pecan crops. The 1992 value fell $2 million to $82 million.

1992 values for other agricultural commodities were: soybeans, $322 million, up $48 million; catfish, $259 million, up $1 million; feed crops, $218 million, up $59 million; food grains, $180 million, up $18 million; milk, $115 million, up $17 million; and the income received from land in the conservation reserve was $35 million.

Delchamps announces earnings

Delchamps Inc. announced net earnings for the 13-week period ended December 26, 1992, were $3,528,000, an increase of 1796.8% compared with $186,000 earned during the same period last fiscal year.

Sales for the quarter were $20,228,000, an increase of 6.8% compared with the same period in the prior year. Sales of stores open in both 13-week periods increased 3.9%.

For the 26-week period ended December 26, 1992, net earnings were $6,526,000, compared with $626,000 for the previous fiscal year, an increase of 942.5%. Sales for the 26-week period were $505,602,000, an increase of 8% compared with last year's results for the comparable period. Same store sales for the 26 weeks of this fiscal year increased 5.3%.
